

Youth Work in England: Policy, Practice and the National Occupational Standards

Message from Chairs of Joint Education and Training Standards (JETS)

The JETS Committee is comprised of the Education, Training and Standards Committee representatives for Youth Work from the nations of the United Kingdom and all-Ireland. As the Professional, Statutory and Regulatory Bodies (PSRBs) for youth and community work, these bodies - and the Joint Committee - oversee validation and standard-setting for courses leading to qualifications in professional and pre-professional youth work (and Community Learning and Development (CLD) in Scotland). This quality assurance function, alongside a broader commitment to continuous professional development for all staff, is at the heart of the profession's obligation to ensure that youth work (and CLD workers in Scotland) are fit to practice.

Membership of JETS is reserved to:

- National Youth Agency (England): <https://nya.org.uk>
- North South ETS (Ireland and Northern Ireland): <https://www.youth.ie/programmes/projects-initiatives/nsets/>
- CLD Standards Council Scotland: <http://cldstandardscouncil.org.uk>
- ETS Wales: <https://etswales.org.uk/home>

The National Occupational Standards (NOS) underpin this work across each of the home nations in the United Kingdom, and specify the standards of performance individuals must achieve in the workplace, together with the knowledge and understanding required for roles within their sector. Youth Work NOS are currently managed by Skills Development Scotland (SDS) on behalf of the three devolved administrations. (Scotland, Wales and Ireland).

In 2018, a review of the Youth Work NOS was commissioned by SDS which involved consulting with industry experts across the four nations within the UK, amending existing NOS where appropriate and developing new NOS according to the roles the sector representatives identified. The new NOS were published in 2019 on the NOS Database.

<https://www.ukstandards.org.uk/>

Youth Work NOS are deliberately broad in design in order to provide a framework able to reflect the diversity and changing nature of practice and policy contexts within which a practitioner operates. Relevant associated and emerging policy contexts and course areas include: youth work (in Northern Ireland); community education and community learning and development (in Scotland); children and young people's services (in England); youth work strategy and youth support services (in Wales); and voluntary and community services, community development, community engagement and community cohesion across the UK. The direction of policy in these areas may change as a result of political imperatives, and other areas of policy may also indirectly influence youth and community work. The same principles run throughout youth work delivery across the United Kingdom.

If you feel that changes are required at the next review of Youth Work NOS please contact the relevant organisation above and provide full details and rationale for the revision or email the information to JETS@cldstandardscouncil.org.uk This will be shared with SDS to consider at the next review.

The Chairs of JETS have welcomed the creation of contextualisation documents in each Nation to clarify the particular context of that Nation.

Youth Work in England

The Youth Work NOS are applicable across the whole of the United Kingdom, but Youth Work has different policy and practical contexts within the home nations. This document places the NOS within the context of Youth Work in England, and is accurate as of the date of publication (April 2023).

It is a useful overview for youth workers and organisations within England to understand youth services within the English policy context, including in relation to other primary legislation. It also sets out how the NOS underpin practice, training and standards in England.

It will therefore help those who wish to develop services or set a strategic direction. For those who wish to better understand what skill sets or knowledge might be considered for particular services or delivery roles, there is included a summary functional map that is shared across all of the UK Nations that outline the different standards within the suite. There is no expectation that an individual job role would encompass all of the standards across the suite or a defined combination of standards or functions. Rather, Individual roles will often be determined by the different contexts within which youth work is undertaken including, for example, the needs of the young person, and specific regional and local contexts.

The National Youth Agency are working to develop a standard that is applicable to organisations and employers of youth workers. This updated NOS will therefore feed into that.

English Policy

In England the portfolio for 'youth' is currently held under the Department for Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS). There is currently no explicit statement for what the English Government intends youth work to achieve and no National Youth Work strategy.

Responsibility for youth services sit at local authority level who must ensure that young people have 'access to sufficient services', 'so far as is reasonably practicable'.

The guidance for delivering this duty is currently being reviewed by DCMS, but, at present, there is no indication as to what levels of youth work should be delivered or how, nor what types of youth work activities should be undertaken or what it should aim to achieve.

Furthermore, responsibilities for policies targeting young people sit in different departments; mental health sits in the Department of Health, for example, whereas responsibility for out-of-school opportunities sits in DCMS; of which youth services are a part. In sum, youth services sit within a context of having no overarching National framework or strategy, addressing multiple departmental priorities, and a devolved responsibility.

Local authorities therefore utilise youth work for different purposes. This can be as a stand-alone service or across a wide range of children and young people's services. The vast majority of youth work is delivered by voluntary organisations, and often independent from a local authority.

Consequently, youth workers address different age ranges, needs, and levels and type of provision and the suite of standards aims to be applicable across this variety.

Other Areas of Applicability

The NOS also covers key responsibilities and obligations within current English policy and legislation as stated in the following:

- The UK Government's ratification of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child in 1991 which recognises children's rights to express their views and to receive information on all matters that affect them, in accordance with their age and maturity.
- The Children Act 2004 (later built on by the Children and Families Act 2014) which focuses on moving towards early identification and intervention to help support the child, but also their wider family and living environment.
- The Children and Social Work Act 2017 which places duties on the Police, Clinical Commissioning Groups and Local Authorities to work together (and with other partners locally) to safeguard and promote the welfare of all children in their area.
- The Working Together to Safeguard Children 2018 statutory guidance refines this, and Para 59 recognises that 'youth services not delivered by local authorities or district councils' are of importance. Para 60 confirms that this applies to volunteers also.

Training and Professional Standards

The Joint Education and Training Standards Committee work together across the UK Home Nations to uphold the professional standards of Youth Work qualifications through the NOS.

Within England, the NOS had always underpinned both the Youth Work Curriculum and the Joint Negotiating Committee (JNC) Terms and Conditions for Youth Work employment. It is therefore a core element of the training offer and the benchmark of professional standards

The National Youth Agency are updating the Youth Work Curriculum, have undertaken preliminary work to inform a National Youth Workforce Brief, and are developing a suite of safeguarding courses for the youth work sector. These will all be in line with the revised NOS and published in 2023.

Core Competencies

The NOS also provides core competencies across the whole spectrum of JNC recognised training in England.

This includes:

- Current apprenticeships for youth work at both Level 3 and Level 6.
- Initial Youth Work Qualifications (pre-professional status).
- Professionally validated degree programmes.

Practical Context

In England, the recorded spend from Local Authority returns on 'Services to Young People' has fallen from a little over £1bn in 2008/09, to £335m in 2018/19, a near two-thirds decline. This has led to a loss of not only much local authority delivered youth work, but also of local and regional infrastructural support, training, professional youth workers, and a fragmentation of services. What does remain is often delivered from more central urban locations, or as part of a wider 'family' or children's team.

At the same time, balance in spend has shifted from being on predominantly universal services, to predominantly targeted services which are naturally limited in length and have thresholds for participation, and the role of the voluntary and community sector has increased in prominence across all delivery. Returns from youth work undergraduate and post-graduate destinations show that youth workers are increasingly finding employment in other sectors, with youth workers found in school settings, health care, housing associations, emergency services and others.

Guidance and Expectations

These altering practical contexts have significantly changed the expectations on youth workers, the support available to them, and often have altered the skill sets they are required to have.

The NOS are therefore essential to help provide guidance and expectations across the following domains:

- Supporting training and qualifications.
- Measuring quality of practice.
- Shaping content and methods of work with young people.
- Shaping job descriptions for Youth Workers, including in other sectors that utilises the strengths of the Youth Work approach.

Purpose of Youth Work

The Key Purpose of Youth Work is to...

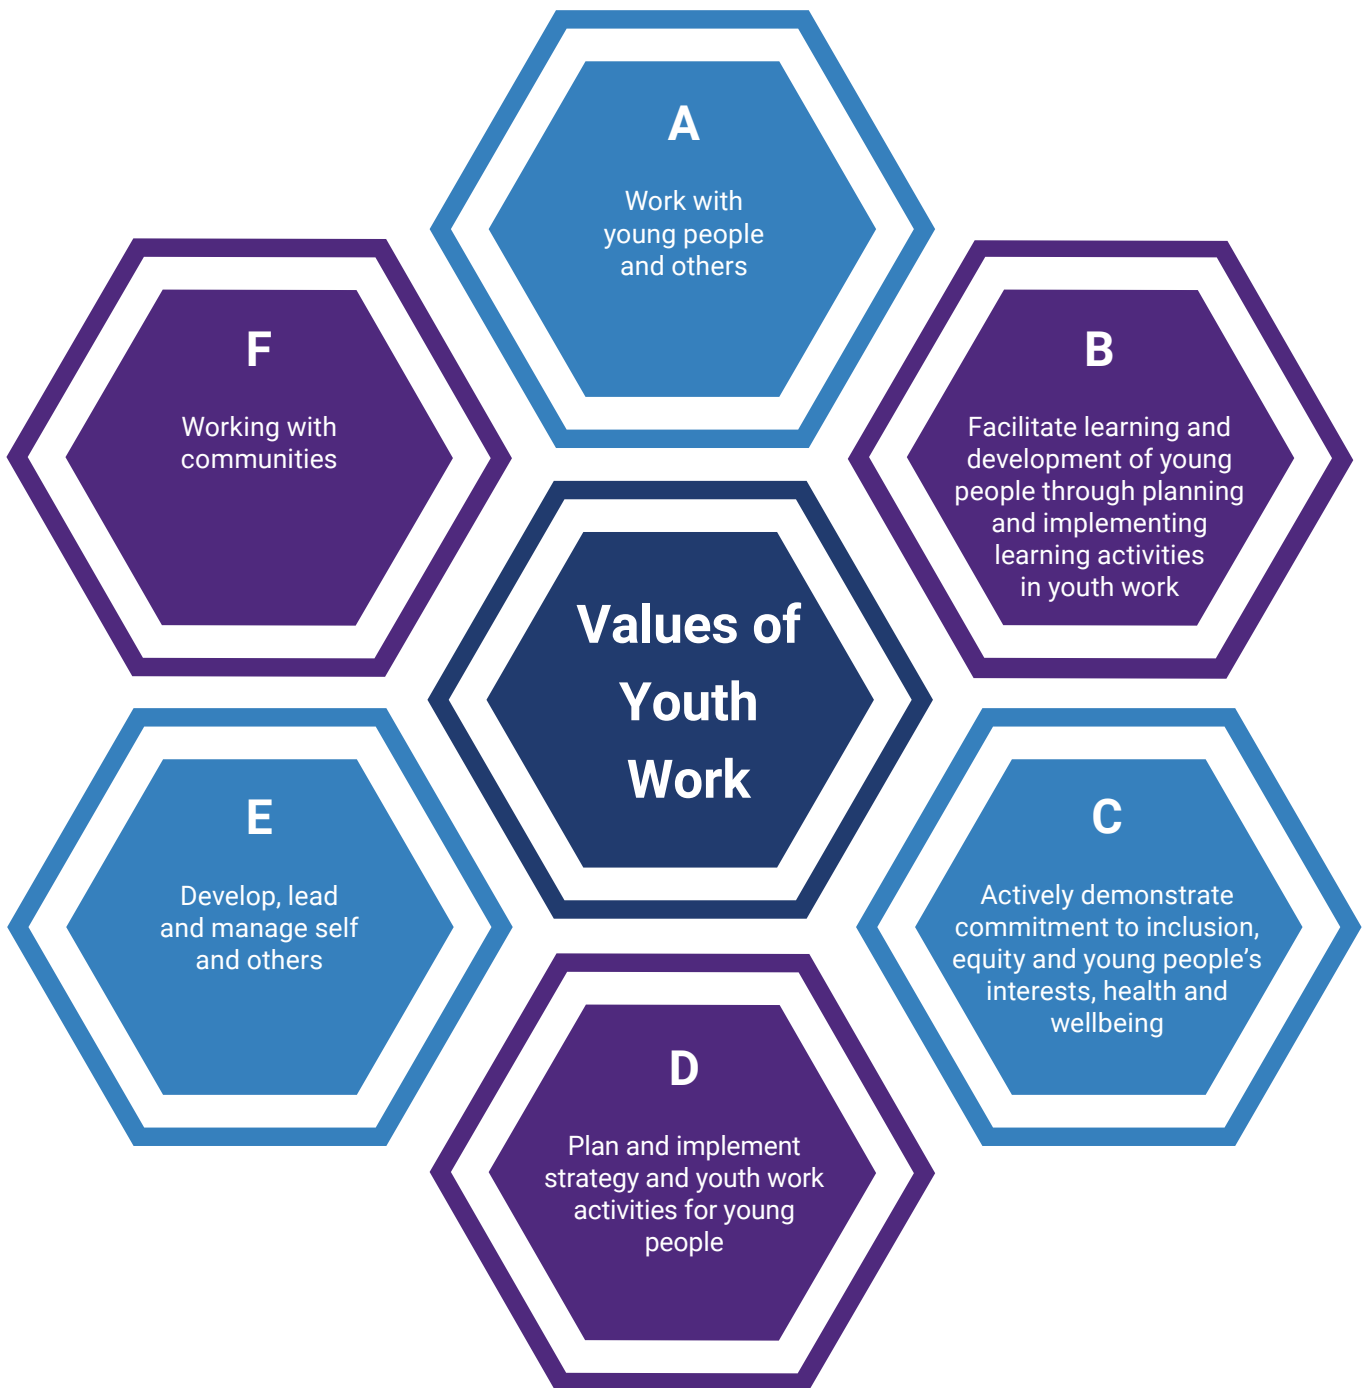

‘Enable young people to develop holistically, working with them to facilitate their personal, social and educational development, to enable them to develop their voice, influence and place in society and to reach their full potential.’

The Key Purpose of Youth Work as agreed by the youth work sector, which underpinned previous NOS, has not changed and is agreed by the sector. However, the standards themselves have been amended to reflect youth work in a contemporary context. Here we provide the summary functional map of the NOS and also, in Appendix A, the NOS in full.

Suite Overview

The Youth Work National Occupational Standards (NOS) aim to define the competencies required to carry out the functions carried out by the youth work workforce. The NOS are intended to describe the competencies required to fulfil the tasks required in the youth sector. The NOS are not designed to describe any specific youth work role. The NOS for Youth Work do not equate directly to qualifications, but are used to derive relevant competency-based qualifications for the youth work sector. The NOS, as the agreed standards of performance and knowledge required in youth work practice across the UK, can be used by employers to inform job descriptions, consider skills needs and identify areas of improvement, and can also support an individual's professional and continuous development. The different contexts in which youth work is practiced will have a bearing on how these NOS are applied. The relevant national, regional, local and political context, as well other applicable standards of performance or competence, should be taken into account when reading and applying the Youth Work NOS. It should be noted that the approach to youth work differs across the four nations of the UK. The NOS have been written to enable the differences to be accommodated and to enable different terminology to be applied as appropriate. However, regardless of the national context, at the core of all youth work practice are the Values for Youth Work, developed with the sector in 2007. The Values describe an approach to youth work and it is expected that all those working with young people will work within the values. The Values of Youth Work are detailed within this Introduction.

YW00 Youth Work National Occupational Standards:

Introduction

Performance criteria

Each National Occupational Standard comprises a number of performance criteria which an individual should demonstrate to be competent in the sector, as well as the underpinning knowledge and understanding statements.

Knowledge and understanding

It should be noted that there is not an immediate and direct relationship between an individual performance criterion and a knowledge and/or understanding statement, with the knowledge statements underpinning the whole of each National Occupational Standard.

Additional Information

Scope and range

The scope or reach of these Youth Work National Occupational Standards is expressed by the Key Purpose and the Functional Map. The functional map describes the functions and associated principal activities undertaken by those working within youth work. It identifies the range of functions undertaken across youth work, across the public, private and voluntary sectors.

The 2012 Functional Map is based upon a review of the Youth Work National Occupational Standards, first published in 2002 and updated in 2008. The review was undertaken to ensure that developments and changes affecting youth work practice since 2007 are captured and reflected in the functions and subsequent National Occupational Standards for Youth Work.

Key Purpose

The Key Purpose was agreed by the youth work sector during 2008, and it encompasses the outcomes of delivering youth work (what is achieved). The key purpose of youth work is to.....

‘Enable young people to develop holistically, working with them to facilitate their personal, social and educational development, to enable them to develop their voice, influence and place in society and to reach their full potential’

This statement refers to the holistic development of young people, recognising that personal, social and educational development can also include, for example, physical, political and spiritual development.

Values at the core of Youth Work

Working with representatives of the sectors within youth work, a suite of values has been agreed which distinguishes youth work from other, sometimes related activities involving young people. These values are at the core of the work undertaken within youth work and underpin the standards; recognising that at the heart of all youth work is a young person led approach.

It is also recognised that these values need to be placed within the local, social and political context within which youth work activities are undertaken, and of which youth workers will need to be aware. These values also illustrate how youth work is involved in the holistic development of young people, and are as follows:

Youth Work National Occupational Standards

Youth Work Values:

Participation and active involvement

- Young people choose to be involved, not least because they want to relax, meet friends, make new relationships, to have fun, and to find support,
- The work starts from where young people are in relation to their own values, views and principles, as well as their own personal and social space,
- It seeks to go beyond where young people start, to widen their horizons, promote participation and invite social commitment, in particular by encouraging them to be critical and creative in their responses to their experience and the world around them,

Equity, diversity and inclusion:

- It treats young people with respect, valuing each individual and their differences, and promoting the acceptance and understanding of others, whilst challenging oppressive behaviour and ideas,
- It respects and values individual differences by supporting and strengthening young people's belief in themselves, and their capacity to grow and to change through a supportive group environment,
- It is underpinned by the principles of equity, diversity and interdependence,

Partnership with young people and others

- It recognises, respects and is actively responsive to the wider networks of peers, communities, families and cultures which are important to young people, and through these networks seeks to help young people to achieve stronger relationships and collective identities, through the promotion of inclusivity,
- It works in partnership with young people and other agencies which contribute to young people's social, educational and personal development,
- It recognises the young person as a partner in a learning process, complementing formal education, promoting their access to learning opportunities which enable them to fulfil their potential,

Personal, social and political development:

- It is concerned with how young people feel, and not just with what they know and can do,
- It is concerned with facilitating and empowering the voice of young people, encouraging and enabling them to influence the environment in which they live
- It safeguards the welfare of young people, and provides them with a safe environment in which to explore their values, beliefs, ideas and issues

These values underpin and are to be reflected within the requirements of the relevant standards.

Summary map

The following summary map identifies the functions and principal areas of activity undertaken in achieving this key purpose.

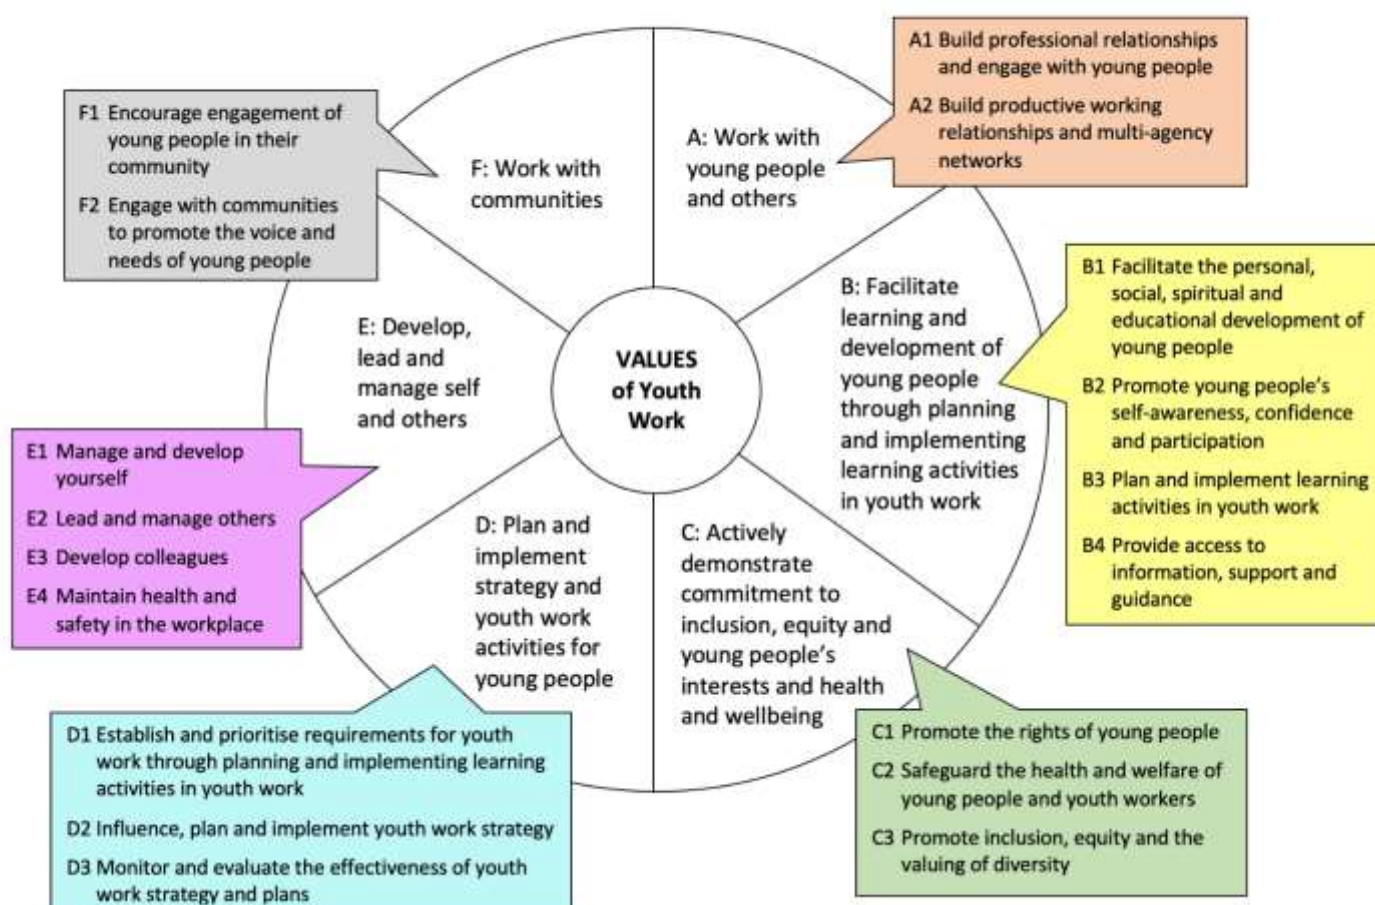

The functional areas are proposed as the full range of those undertaken by youth workers. However, it is unlikely that any individual youth worker will do all of the activities; rather the Map expresses the full range of activities that may be undertaken in order to deliver youth work.

The areas suggested are not of equal size/complexity, as they reflect activities and roles undertaken by individuals of varying levels of experience, responsibility and seniority. It is also recognised that many of the functions/activities are inter-related, such that the outcomes of one will impact upon another.

Best practice, as set out by the NOS requires youth workers to be aware of the local, social and political context within which youth work activities are undertaken.

In addition, youth workers will be required to demonstrate a commitment to the Values and principles which underpin and support all activities across youth work.

SUMMARY FUNCTIONAL MAP FOR YOUTH WORK

This diagram identifies five first-level functional areas (as set out within the main circle) undertaken in achieving the key purpose. The second-level functions indicated in the surrounding boxes are those undertaken in achieving the relevant first-level function. On the following pages mapping is provided to clearly indicate which NOS are relevant for the second level functions identified.

Glossary

Community can include: local, regional, national, global, communities of interest and communities of practice

Equality means treating all individuals equally despite individual differences; in this suite it is mainly used to describe legislation or requirements that may need to be met, or when referring to ensuring that opportunities are offered equally to all.

Equity means treating each individual according to their individual differences providing them according to their requirement; in this suite it is mainly used to describe a fair and equitable approach by practitioners when working with others.

Others can include: colleagues, other agencies, external partners and key stakeholders; as well as local, national or global communities of interest or practice.

Other workers can mean those within and external to own organisation, including those who may not have a specific youth work role and responsibilities.

Safeguarding has been used to mean taking all reasonable measures to ensure that the risks of harm to children's, young people's and vulnerable adult's welfare are minimised and where there are concerns about welfare, all agencies taking appropriate actions to address those concerns, working to agreed local policies and procedures in full partnership with other local agencies. It is used differently in the constituent nations of the UK.

Well-being includes the personal, social, mental and physical health of young people

Links to other NOS

A number of existing NOS suites are identified to ensure that those working with young people are able to identify and access other NOS which may be relevant to their role. The signposted NOS identified are given below with a summary of the content.

Work with Parents This is a key suite, suitable for roles which have crossover with or elements of working with parents.

Family Learning This is a key suite, suitable for roles which may have crossover or elements of working with and supporting families to develop.

Managing Volunteers Suitable for roles with responsibility for managing, working with or supporting volunteer staff, whether paid or unpaid.

It is important to note that there is a fundamental difference between the management and support of volunteers as opposed to the management and support of paid staff – the latter being covered by the Management and leadership NOS.

Management and leadership NOS Suitable for roles with responsibility for leading or managing staff, developing or managing strategy, planning and evaluation. This suite includes NOS for obtaining and managing finance and budgets.

Learning and development Suitable for roles which aim to support the development of young people through individual or group work

Learner Involvement Suitable for roles which have an element of representing, supporting, and advocating on behalf of learners.

Outdoor Programmes and Activity leadership Suitable for roles which work with young people and are involved in the outdoors, sports and recreational activity leadership

Fundraising Suitable for roles with responsibility for obtaining voluntary donations, whether from individuals, businesses or grant making organisations.

Business Administration Suitable for roles which include administrative functions. The suite includes some aspects of planning and project management.

Project Management Suitable for those who plan, manage and deliver projects in youth work

Health and Safety Suitable for all roles with health and safety responsibilities, and those who control, assess and manage health and safety.

External Links

There are a number of other factors which will have bearing on how the Youth Work NOS are applied. National, regional and local policies, as well as relevant competence frameworks and codes of practice, will apply to those who work with young people.

It should be noted that the approach to youth work differs across the four nations of the UK. The NOS have been written to enable the differences to be accommodated and to enable different terminology to be applied as appropriate. However, regardless of the national context, at the core of all youth work practice are the Values for Youth Work, developed with the sector in 2007. The Values describe an approach to youth work and it is expected that all those working with young people will work within the values.

Initiate, build and maintain relationships with young people

Overview

Purposeful relationships with young people are at the heart of good youth work.

It is important to know how to initiate such relationships and also the ways in which they can be maintained in order for young people to learn and develop.

This standard is about initiating, building and maintaining personal relationships with young people.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners.

Initiate, build and maintain relationships with young people

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. establish contact with young people using suitable locations
2. initiate and hold conversations with young people at an appropriate time and place
3. provide young people with information about your role and responsibilities and how you may work together
4. agree with young people their role and responsibilities
5. respond to any questions or issues raised by young people when they are developing proposals and plans
6. maintain appropriate ethical, legal and contractual requirements in all dealings with young people
7. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Initiate, build and maintain relationships with young people

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. legal, organisational and codes of practice relevant to working with young people, and their impact for communicating with young people
2. locations in the community where young people meet
3. the importance of building trust and rapport with young people, and methods for achieving this for a range of young people
4. different styles and forms of communication that may be appropriate for communicating with young people, including electronic channels
5. the importance of non-verbal communication, such as body language, and how others use and interpret body language in different ways
6. possible barriers to communication, their causes, and ways to overcome them
7. the importance of clarifying what your expectations are
8. the potential risks to your personal safety, and ways of addressing these
9. requirements regarding confidentiality, and the importance of meeting these
10. the boundaries of your personal competence and responsibility, when to involve others, and how to obtain advice and support
11. the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Overview

The importance of understanding how young people feel as well as what they know and can do, is one of the values and principles which youth workers are expected to know about and apply in their practice. This standard is about enabling young people to express their aspirations, concerns and development goals. You will also monitor young people's activity to safeguard their well-being. The standard also includes assisting them to prioritise their goals and to agree and realise the support that might be needed.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. agree and prioritise with young people their goals, and outline any options available to them they can choose to help achieve these goals
2. assist young people to think about the factors and constraints affecting the progress of their agreed options
3. assess the ongoing activities of young people for learning opportunities which may address their needs
4. agree with young people the type and amount of support required towards achieving their goals
5. assist in securing the support agreed, in line with your level of authority and organisational requirements
6. monitor young people's activity to ensure their physical safety and mental wellbeing and respond appropriately to changes in behaviour
7. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. methods for establishing rapport with young people
2. why it is important to make contact with young people on their terms
3. typical issues and aspirations expressed by young people
4. sources of assistance relevant to addressing the issues and needs of young people
5. why it is important to enable young people to identify and to set their own goals, and to develop their own solutions, and methods for facilitating this process
6. why you should use young people's current activities as the starting point for developing opportunities
7. informal, formal, learning from experience, communication, critical dialogue and other learning opportunities, and associated resources available
8. how young people are motivated to achieve their goals
9. communication styles and techniques effective in developing dialogue with young people
10. your organisation's guidelines relating to child protection, health and safety, and confidentiality
11. issues of risk and personal safety, and how to address these
12. your role and levels of responsibility and who to approach in situations where these might be exceeded
13. the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Overview

This standard is about fulfilling the legal, regulatory and ethical requirements which impact upon youth work activities.

It also covers ensuring that your organisational youth work activities comply with the legal, regulatory and ethical requirements and are consistent with the values and principles. You will develop policies and procedures for your organisation, monitor for any breaches of these and take appropriate action when required.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners. It also applies to those involved in the management of youth work activities within their organisation.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. keep up to date with the relevant legal, regulatory, organisational and ethical requirements affecting youth work, and the impact on your own or organisational youth work responsibilities and activities
2. develop effective policies and procedures to make sure that your organisation meets the necessary requirements
3. confirm that relevant people are aware of policies and procedures for carrying out their role and that they follow them
4. monitor your own or your organisation's activity for any breaches of compliance and the impact of not fulfilling requirements
5. take action to ensure that youth work activity meets all relevant requirements including identifying, reporting and correcting any failures to meet requirements
6. provide full reports about any failures to meet requirements to the relevant people
7. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. legal, regulatory and ethical requirements impacting upon your or your organisation's youth work activities
2. the importance of fulfilling legal, regulatory and ethical requirements, and the impact of failing to do so
3. the values and culture of your organisation and their effect upon its governance
4. current and emerging environmental, social and ethical concerns and expectations relevant to youth work
5. ways in which other organisations involved in youth work address the current and emerging environmental, social and ethical concerns and expectations

Overview

This standard is about developing productive working relationships with others who have an interest in, or are engaged in, organisational activities related to youth work. It is about collaborative working with others in order to share resources to improve youth work provision and provide the best possible opportunities for young people in the community.

It involves being aware of the roles, responsibilities, interests and concerns of colleagues, agencies and stakeholders and working with and supporting them in various ways. The need to monitor and review the productiveness of working relationships with colleagues, agencies and stakeholders is a key part of this standard.

In the context of this standard, as well as colleagues, agencies and stakeholders, 'others' can include external partners as well as local, national or global communities of interest or practice.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. establish working relationships with colleagues, partners and stakeholders
2. establish and agree with other organisations shared aims to benefit young people, and develop coordinated approaches to improving opportunities for young people towards these
3. agree with colleagues, agencies and stakeholders, the actions for everyone to take to enhance the working relationship
4. agree the working arrangements, schedule and responsibilities for undertaking the shared actions
5. provide information to others in accordance with organisational procedures
6. consult with others when making key decisions and when undertaking youth work activities
7. fulfil agreements made with others and revise these agreements so that they remain current
8. agree key performance measures and methods for monitoring and evaluating the agreed actions
9. monitor and review the productiveness of working relationships with others, seeking and providing feedback, in order to identify areas for improvement
10. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. the value and benefit of developing productive working relationships with others
2. principles and tools of effective communication and how to apply them with other organisations, communities and individuals
3. why it is important to recognise and respect the roles, responsibilities, and interests of colleagues and stakeholders
4. the relevant agencies, partners and stakeholders and the nature of their interest in your organisation performance or activities
5. who from the relevant agencies, partners and stakeholders can provide information and take action towards improving opportunities for young people, their structures, and who to contact there when considering both strategic and operational issues
6. developments, issues and concerns of importance to stakeholders in youth work and how to recognise these
7. why you must take into account the culture and values of other organisations, particularly in relation to their priorities in relation to working with young people
8. the issues, needs and aspirations of young people within the community relevant to developing opportunities for young people, including enhancing youth work provision
9. the importance of monitoring wider developments in relation to stakeholders and how to do so effectively
10. current and emerging political, economic, social, technological, environmental and legal developments in youth work
11. how to identify and agree what information is appropriate and legal to provide to others, and organisational requirements for sharing information
12. your organisation's and legal procedures regarding confidentiality, data protection and reportable disclosures
13. how to identify conflicts of interest and disagreements and techniques to adopt to manage or remove them
14. the importance of effective networks, and of long and medium-term planning in maintaining effective contacts at other organisations

15. how to delegate responsibilities and allocate resources when building networks
16. why communication regarding fulfilment of agreements or any problems affecting or preventing fulfilment is important
17. mechanisms for monitoring and reviewing the effectiveness of working relationships with others
18. how to obtain, share and use feedback on the effectiveness of working relationships
19. the legal, organisational, ethical requirements and other codes of practice relevant to working with others and young people including the local, social and political context
20. the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Overview

This standard is for youth workers whose work involves encouraging young people to reflect upon their learning and to apply this in other areas of their lives, establishing goals for their future development. It may take place in an individual or group setting.

Learning in this standard includes formal, non-formal and informal learning as well as learning from experience, communication and through discussion.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. assist young people to explore the benefits of ongoing learning
2. create opportunities for young people to reflect on their learning and life experiences
3. assist young people to develop strategies to cope with challenging situations regarding their learning journey
4. assist young people to develop the ability to take charge of their own review sessions
5. assist young people to develop clear and achievable, personal and group development goals
6. assist young people to undertake activities which reflect their learning style to achieve their goals
7. signpost sources of support which will help young people to carry out and review their learning and development
8. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. activities and methods for explaining and promoting the benefits of ongoing learning, and associated sources of support for young people
2. the importance of encouraging young people to reflect on their own experiences and draw their own learning from them
3. techniques for creating an environment where it is safe to communicate openly and honestly about experiences, learning and aspirations
4. techniques for facilitating and monitoring group dynamics, enabling young people to focus on important issues for them, including those they find challenging
5. how to empower young people to take ownership of the learning process
6. how to work with young people to identify achievable goals, and mechanisms for recording young people's development
7. methods of learning and other theories relevant to development planning
8. the importance of giving and receiving feedback effectively and methods for achieving this with young people
9. activities and techniques that can be used for monitoring and reflecting on personal and group development
10. the sources of support for young people as they implement their development plans and deal with issues which are beyond your remit
11. how learning from youth work experiences might be applied in other areas of life
12. how and when to use accreditation to enhance young people's learning
13. types of accredited learning
14. the value of informal, non-formal, formal, learning from experience, communication and how these can enhance the development of young people

Overview

This standard is about working with young people to facilitate the exploration of their values and beliefs, in relation to themselves and others.

The exploration of values and beliefs can cover a broad spectrum of topics such as: community, cultural values, discrimination, environment, ethics, faith, global issues, health, ideological beliefs, inter- and intra-group or community conflict, morality, philosophical beliefs, political views, relationships, religious beliefs and spirituality, including convictions of non-belief.

The standard includes enabling young people to increase the sense of their own value through self-awareness and to build their self-esteem. It facilitates young people to think critically about the values and beliefs they hold, how they have acquired these and to understand the positive and negative effects these may have on their lives and the lives of others.

As youth work strives to make an active contribution to the development of a society with different characteristics and diverse views, the exploration of values and beliefs must be conducted within the context of promoting good relations and equality of opportunity for all.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners. It can be interpreted and applied as appropriate to the context in which youth workers operate and it is not intended to be restrictive or exclusive.

Explore the concept of values and beliefs with young people

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. ask young people what is meant by 'values' and 'beliefs' and what they think the connections and differences may be between them
2. inform young people about the role of nature, nurture, context and community in the development of 'values' and 'beliefs'
3. check that the environment within which the exploration takes place is safe and appropriate for yourself and the young people, following organisational procedures
4. discuss with young people the choices they can make regarding their values and beliefs
5. provide young people with examples of how you share your understandings of values and beliefs without imposing these upon others
6. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Explore the concept of values and beliefs with young people

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. what is meant by 'values and beliefs', and why it is important to encourage young people to explore their own values and beliefs
2. the importance of building trust with young people in order to have conversations about values and beliefs, and how to establish trust
3. values and beliefs, and other external factors that young people may encounter that can influence their own values and beliefs
4. differing contexts, cultures and perspectives regarding values operating within young people's communities, in wider society and nationally
5. the relationship between values, beliefs and behaviour
6. techniques and activities which encourage young people to become more self-aware and recognise their self-image
7. the potential effects and consequences of positive or negative self-image, and self-esteem
8. the potential effects and consequences of dealing with endings and deaths
9. the importance of respecting the right of a young person to hold a view of the world and themselves
10. activities and techniques that can provide young people with a sense of success and self-worth

Overview

The importance of equity, diversity and inclusion is one of the values which youth workers are expected to know about and apply when working with groups of young people.

This standard focuses on managing group dynamics in order to facilitate group work with young people. It includes working with young people in a group or individual situation to develop group activities that meet both group and individual needs and preferences.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. explain your role as a facilitator to the group
2. discuss and agree with young people the expectations of acceptable behaviour within the group
3. help young people and adults to establish groups to carry out youth work activities
4. promote the maintenance of positive relationships and the valuing of differences between individual group members and with other groups
5. assist young people to give, receive and accept constructive feedback
6. use facilitation methods and styles appropriate to the group's stage of development to design group activities
7. manage unacceptable behaviour, conflicts and tensions, ensuring that your actions are in line with legislation, policy and procedures
8. seek support when actions that need to be taken to support the group are outside the limits of your role and responsibility
9. meet your organisation's policy, practice and requirements for recording and reporting group sessions for young people, including incidents that may arise
10. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. your role as a facilitator of group dynamics and activities
2. why group work is important for developing the skills and confidence of young people
3. concepts, theories and contemporary models of group dynamics and how to apply these
4. ways to facilitate groups which encourage empowerment and take account of a group's stage of development
5. why you must make sure that boundaries of behaviour with the group and its members are set and adhered to
6. how to encourage and support young people and adults to establish new groups to facilitate youth work activities in response to an identified need
7. methods and interventions used to develop group activities
8. why it is important to work with young people in ways which overcome individual and group barriers and encourage them to communicate with and respect each other
9. how to recognise behaviours outside agreed boundaries, and the difference between aggressive behaviour and assertiveness
10. how the age and stage of development of young people can affect the way in which behaviour is viewed
11. the importance of taking into account young people's life experience which may impact upon their current behaviour
12. techniques for diverting oppressive behaviour
13. ways to provide constructive feedback to groups and their members
14. ways of monitoring and evaluating group work and the success of groups

Overview

The importance of understanding the digitalised world that young people live in, and having confidence to support young people to navigate, and become empowered within the online and technological aspects of their lives is critical for youth work in a digital age.

It is not essential for all youth workers to demonstrate high levels of technical expertise, but it is important that youth workers appreciate the role that digitalisation and the internet play in young people's lives and can engage with them.

This standard is about the skills, approaches and types of knowledge needed for youth workers to develop their competence to support young people to be more aware of their relationships and behaviour online, think critically about the media and products they consume online, create content, use online platforms to share their voices, defend their rights and influence society.

This standard is for all youth work practitioners.

Performance criteria

- You must be able to:*
1. Investigate possible opportunities for collaboration with other agencies and improved practice
 2. develop, implement, reflect and redesign engaging activities for individuals and groups involving the use of digital media and technology
 3. plan digital youth work alongside and according to the needs of young people
 4. assess the digital literacy level of each young person and adjust digital youth work activities accordingly
 5. assess the risks involved in digital youth work activities and mitigate them by applying appropriate measures
 6. assist young people to use digital media to promote their ideas and to encourage participation in and views on youth work activities
 7. challenge young people to think critically about digital content and services
 8. assist young people to make informed choices about the appropriate digital tools with which to interact, collaborate and share with different target groups
 9. assist young people to make informed decisions about how they want to create an online presence, how they protect their information, who they want to share their content with and how to control this by using privacy settings and strong passwords.
 10. help young people to decide whether they should accept the terms and conditions of digital services
 11. help young people deal with problems they may encounter in digital settings
 12. give young people opportunities to explore coding or create digital content
 13. establish and maintain appropriate professional boundaries in online relationships with young people
 14. reflect on your digital identity in a youth work setting
 15. use evaluative techniques to reflect on the effectiveness of undertaking digital youth work and to improve practice
 16. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. how digitalisation is shaping society, including its impact on youth work and on young people and on their future opportunities
2. typical needs of young people, including their interests, preferences, aspirations, hobbies, styles and online habits
3. young people's digital cultures, including how young people communicate in digital environments
4. how to support existing youth work goals with digital media and technology
5. methods to involve young people in all stages of digital youth work, including peer activities, giving responsible roles to young people, volunteering
6. the barriers to participation in the aspects of digital youth work and how to overcome them
7. the digital devices and applications available and how to select the most appropriate one for your requirements
8. available tools for digital creativity, including free and open source tools
9. the types of problems young people may encounter online, including how to react to hate speech, cyber bullying and other unwanted behaviour online and reporting to platforms and to police or other agencies
10. how copyright and licences apply to data, information and digital content
11. the legal issues associated with uploading digital content, including ownership of data
12. where your digital competence needs to be improved or updated
13. where to find practice sharing and learning opportunities in this field

Overview

The importance of participation and the active involvement of young people are values which youth workers are expected to know and apply in their practice, and which underpin this standard.

This standard is for youth workers who encourage young people to become informed, engaged and responsible citizens, developing an understanding of the wider community and their place within it.

It includes encouraging and supporting young people to become involved in their local and wider communities and promoting an understanding of how to be effective in connecting with, challenging and making a positive contribution to change in these communities.

In the context of this standard, wider communities can include social, cultural or personal groups, as well as local, regional, national and global communities which may be subject to democratic or political process.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. provide young people with information relating to the wider local, national and global communities and explore the benefits of them becoming involved with these
2. enable young people to identify their starting point in terms of self-awareness and self-confidence
3. assist young people to examine any risk that may be involved while working on their youth work goals
4. discuss with young people ways of how they may participate in the wider community and encourage them to challenge ideas and decision making
5. involve young people in agreeing and organising activities designed to develop their engagement as citizens
6. check that there are adequate resources for young people to progress the activities chosen as they plan their objectives
7. assist young people to carry out risk assessment during the activities and to take the appropriate actions to refine the goals
8. explore and agree with young people the criteria for assessing risk and evaluating activities and how progress will be monitored
9. check that the activities are progressing and meeting objectives
10. assist young people to reflect on and discuss the learning points arising from activities and to use this learning to develop themselves as responsible citizens
11. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. the benefits of encouraging and supporting young people to broaden their horizons, and in connecting to and involving themselves in the wider community, and of being responsible citizens
2. what is meant by responsible citizenship, including its relation to families, local communities, local and national government, and international and global affairs
3. how citizenship is addressed in the learning environment, and how youth work activities can complement this
4. the democratic process and the role of local and central government including key decision-making roles and responsibilities
5. the nature and aims of the main political parties
6. opportunities and activities to enhance young people's involvement and participation in wider communities, including volunteer and leadership opportunities, and how to access, create and implement these
7. barriers and constraints that young people consider to be hindering their ability to fulfil their potential as responsible citizens, and appropriate actions towards overcoming these
8. legal and organisational requirements relating to managing risks with young people and the impact of these requirements on your role.

Overview

The importance of participation and the involvement of young people are some of the values which youth workers are expected to know about and to apply in practice. Encouraging young people to take part and become involved in advocacy supports the development of young people's skills and confidence.

This standard is about supporting young people to develop their communication skills to represent their views and values and those of their peers, to others. It also includes identifying what the needs and interests of individuals or groups of young people are and presenting their needs and interests accurately and fairly.

This standard is for youth workers who communicate and act on behalf of young people, and/or who encourage young people to represent themselves.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners.

Performance criteria

- You must be able to:*
1. choose models of advocacy to use with young people
 2. agree with young people the key issues they wish to address through advocacy, the desired outcomes and the information requirements
 3. assist young people to engage with appropriate people, including decision makers
 4. discuss and agree with young people opportunities to participate and to represent themselves
 5. assist young people to collect sufficient and valid information to enable them to support and present their views and interests
 6. agree with young people how to tailor their presentation of their views and interests to different audiences
 7. assist young people with planning what they want to communicate
 8. encourage young people to represent themselves and help them to develop strategies to cope with any constraints or barriers they face in doing this
 9. review available information about the needs of young people and collect additional information so that you can advocate on their behalf where necessary
 10. present the interests of young people to the audience, listen to the response of others and offer constructive feedback
 11. record and maintain records of the information presented and the actions taken
 12. review the outcomes of the representations with young people, and agree appropriate consequent actions
 13. comply with relevant codes of practice, guidelines and ethical requirements and work in line with youth work values

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. your role and responsibilities within the advocacy of young people's views and interests
2. models, methods and techniques of advocacy
3. typical circumstances where young people may need advocacy
4. factors affecting the ability of young people to participate and represent themselves
5. methods of assessing the maturity, skills and confidence of young people relevant to presenting their views and interests
6. the importance of establishing realistic goals for the outcome of representations
7. how to agree the advocacy needed with and for young people including the goals, information needed and how to present the case
8. the range of situations where representation may take place, and the factors to consider in preparing for these
9. who to contact in order to pursue the interests of young people
10. the type of information needed and how to obtain additional information to ensure accurate and fair advocacy
11. the importance of preparation when presenting views and arguments, the needs and expectations of the audience, and methods of achieving this
12. the difference between decision makers and those who influence the decision-making process, and the importance of each
13. communication skills appropriate to presenting views and interests
14. typical issues and areas of concern raised through advocacy and ways to resolve them
15. how to provide feedback and review the outcomes of advocacy with young people
16. how to take any required action following the advocacy representation

Overview

This standard is for youth workers involved in developing activities for and with young people, which is a key part of many youth work roles. The planning, preparation and facilitation of activities involving young people is achieved through engagement with the youth work process and the development of learning opportunities with and for young people. The standard also includes involving young people in the design and development of activities.

Depending on the context, activities could be stand-alone, or could collectively make a programme and/or could be part of a project.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. Make suggestions to young people for activities they may wish to participate in which are relevant to their needs and appropriate for the setting
2. enable young people to take on leadership and/or delivery roles during activities
3. assist young people to agree and record the steps and actions to be taken to achieve agreed activities
4. agree with young people the ground rules and aims for the activity and any criteria against which the success of the activity is to be monitored and evaluated
5. agree with the young people involved how concerns, constraints or potential barriers to achieving the activity goals should be addressed
6. praise young people when they make successful contributions and complete activities
7. involve young people in monitoring and evaluating the effectiveness of the activity and identify ways of enhancing activities
8. work within the existing curricula or programmes where relevant and applicable
9. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. the legal and organisational requirements that are relevant to your work with young people, including those of your and other relevant organisations
2. Youth Participation theory, knowledge and principles
3. methods and tools suitable for planning youth work activities
4. processes and techniques for designing and developing activities with young people
5. the importance of designing activities which take account of the methods of learning preferred by those participating, and how to do this
6. how to identify and overcome barriers to effective learning and activities and methods for addressing these
7. the types of settings and resources required for activities, and opportunities, options and constraints towards obtaining these within budget and time requirements
8. ways of encouraging young people to participate in agreed activities
9. why it is important to monitor the group dynamic for conflict and how to address this promptly and fairly
10. effective ways of working with and involving young people in the setting of criteria for monitoring and evaluation of activities

Overview

This standard is for youth workers who support young people to manage resources, including finances, for an event, activity and/or project. It is also suitable for those who manage the resources and finances of such a project themselves.

This standard includes working with young people to draw up a financial and project plan for an event, activity and/or project, managing the resources required, monitoring the income and expenditure and keeping accurate records.

Depending on the context, activities could be stand-alone, or could collectively make a programme and/or could be part of a project.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. establish the available budget for the proposed activity
2. agree with young people the resources needed for the proposed activity, including the necessary skills, people's time, equipment and materials
3. assist young people to identify any gaps in the available resources required, to explore options for meeting the gaps, and the impact upon budgets
4. assist young people to develop and implement realistic plans for raising money and obtaining further resources
5. assist young people with applications for funding
6. involve young people in preparing an accurate project plan for the required activity which sets out a schedule of actions
7. agree the project plan and budget with the young people involved and any other relevant parties
8. work with young people to establish a system for monitoring progress against the schedule and budget
9. monitor the expenditure and any income whilst the activity is being progressed, identifying any significant variations from the budget, the reasons for these, and take appropriate action
10. assist young people to review the outcomes of the activity, including how resources were managed, and use the findings to make recommendations to inform future work
11. keep clear, accurate and comprehensive records following your organisation's policies and procedures for records keeping
12. put contingency plans in place that mitigate against the risk to resources
13. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. legal, regulatory and ethical requirements relating to youth work, and their impact on your area of operations
2. legislation and organisational guidelines relating to raising money or other resources for youth work activities
3. the information required and where to source this, for preparing a realistic estimate of the budget and resources necessary for the activities
4. why it is important that young people participate in estimating, planning, and managing resources
5. the importance of spending time on, and of consulting with relevant parties when estimating the resources required and establishing a budget for activities
6. how to prepare, agree and monitor a budget with young people
7. financial accountabilities and the extent to which people are financially responsible within your organisation
8. how to evaluate resource requirements and identify gaps
9. why it is important to support young people in obtaining their own resources for activities
10. the range of available resources, both within and outside own organisation
11. how to set, monitor and document action plans with young people
12. systems for tracking income and expenditure during implementation of an event, activity or project
13. why it is important to monitor expenditure carefully and involve young people in the monitoring
14. the importance of providing accurate and regular information regarding performance against the budget to relevant people
15. the limits of your authority, and to whom to refer to when necessary

Overview

This standard is about supporting young people to identify and access the information they need to help them make informed decisions. It also covers providing appropriate and factual information, evaluating the effectiveness of information and using critical thinking for decision making.

Providing support is within the boundaries of the youth worker's role and does not remove the young person's right of empowerment. It is not intended to cover the more formal process of counselling.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. establish and assess the nature of information and support which is sought by young people
2. source up to date and factual information in line with organisational procedures
3. assist young people to source, collect, present to others and retain the information they need in relevant media
4. use critical thinking and analysis methods to review with young people the information obtained
5. help young people to locate additional information sources and to take appropriate action where it may be out of date or misleading
6. assist young people to organise information to generate options for decision making
7. confirm with young people how they intend to use the information they have accessed
8. plan and agree with young people what support they will be provided with
9. offer assistance to young people when they are using new forms of media to ensure they are safe and free from bullying and harassment
10. evaluate the effectiveness of information and support provided and use this to inform future support requirements
11. monitor and take action to maintain the currency of information accessed
12. check that information is obtained and stored in accordance with legislative and organisational requirements and practices
13. provide support in line with your own levels of responsibility
14. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. why it is important for young people to be able to access information for themselves from a wide variety of sources
2. typical information needs of young people
3. your organisation's procedures for supporting young people when accessing reliable and trusted information
4. sources of information relevant to young people
5. the individual's rights to information
6. the principal types of media used by young people for accessing, storing, creating and displaying information
7. factors affecting accessibility of information
8. ways to access and provide information that facilitates effective decision-making and enables action planning towards outcomes
9. how to keep young people safe when accessing new forms of media
10. the importance of maintaining young people's rights to make their own decisions and techniques to support them in doing so
11. the support young people may need to understand information, make decisions and plan actions and outcomes
12. ways to ensure that information is kept up to date
13. legislative and organisational requirements related to data protection, copyright, intellectual property and freedom of information
14. the importance of ensuring that information is obtained and stored in line with your organisation's policy and practice

Overview

Facilitating and empowering the voice of young people is one of the values which youth workers are expected to know about and apply in their practice.

This standard introduces young people to internationally recognised rights treaties for children and young people and includes working with young people to promote and embed their rights within youth work activities, and other areas of their lives. You will use advocacy models and techniques to assist young people to do this. The standard makes reference to specific groups of young people who may have access to additional rights and protections, such as refugees, care experienced young people, and young people with disabilities.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. use a rights-based approach when working with young people
2. assist young people to adopt techniques that will help them to express their views and opinions
3. provide young people with suggestions regarding how to present their ideas to others taking account of their rights and those of others
4. advocate with, and on behalf of, young people with peers, colleagues and other stakeholders
5. take action to challenge instances of oppression and discrimination amongst and against young people within the boundaries of your role
6. carry out your role in accordance with relevant guidelines and codes of practice regarding the rights of young people
7. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. legal, regulatory and codes of practice requirements addressing the rights of children and young people including their local, social and political context
2. the powers and duties of Children and Young People's Commissioners in each of their respective devolved nations.
3. key national organisations and local agencies responsible for setting out and monitoring the rights of children and young people
4. the importance of taking into account the views of others in relation to upholding the rights of young people
5. your organisation's procedures requiring you to be aware of and challenge oppression and discrimination
6. advocacy models and techniques
7. principles of effective communication and how to apply these to communicate effectively with young people, other agencies and stakeholders

Overview

This standard is for youth workers who aim to address and improve the well-being of young people.

You will work with young people to identify issues which may affect their well-being and will encourage young people to take reasonable care and to take responsibility for ensuring their own well-being.

Within this standard 'well-being' includes the personal, physical and emotional health of young people.

This standard is suitable for all youth work practitioners.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. agree with young people the typical factors that could impact their health and well-being
2. establish key criteria to be used by young people to define their state of health and well-being, including risks
3. assess young people's well-being using the agreed criteria
4. discuss the outcome of the assessment with the young people and assist them to develop criteria for strategies to enhance their health and well-being
5. provide relevant and up to date information, advice and guidance to young people, in line with your own competence and responsibility
6. ask young people to reflect upon their behaviour and determine the causes and consequences of their actions
7. remind young people to check upon their progress, to recognise achievements and address any setbacks
8. maintain confidentiality and records as appropriate in line with legislative and organisational requirements
9. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. legal and organisational requirements, including the local, social and political context, impacting upon the provision of information, guidance and support relating to the well-being of young people
2. legislative and organisational requirements relevant to the storage, retention and maintenance of information
3. your organisation's policy and procedures regarding confidentiality of information and the disclosure of information to third parties, and the specific circumstances under which disclosure may be made
4. the principal agencies and referral routes available to support young people regarding their health and well-being, and the routes for accessing these
5. the importance of maintaining the young person's right to make their own choices
6. local and national socio-economic issues and their impact upon the well-being of young people
7. risk factors affecting the well-being of young people within the local community, including the digital community
8. why it is important for the young person to control the progress and content of discussions, how to make suggestions and when to provide up to date information
9. why it is important to be non-judgemental about the ways that young people choose to live and the choices they have made
10. why it is important to help young people consider the causes and effects of their choices and behaviour on themselves and others and methods of doing this
11. how culture, beliefs and preferences can affect a young person's willingness to discuss issues and the strategies which may be used to encourage this
12. strategies for encouraging young people to discuss issues openly and honestly, how to respect and acknowledge other's priorities in relation to their well-being and their right to refuse suggestions and information
13. your role and responsibilities and from whom assistance and advice and support should be sought when necessary

Overview

Safeguarding young people is one of the values which youth workers are expected to know about and apply in their practice

This standard is about contributing to, implementing and creating policy and practices which protect young people. As part of this, you will make sure that you implement safe recruitment and supervision measures, follow procedures and confirm that colleagues also do this so that necessary action is taken to safeguard young people when required.

This standard is suitable for all youth workers, as the protection of children is everyone's responsibility.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. safeguard and protect young people following legal, regulatory, codes of practice and duty of care requirements
2. confirm that colleagues and young people are aware of the safeguarding policies and procedures, and the rationale for these
3. implement recruitment and employee checking procedures for employees and volunteers in accordance with current legislation and organisational requirements
4. use supervision as a means of safeguarding young people
5. provide induction and continuous professional development support for employees and volunteers on the application of good practice

Overview

This standard is about using youth work interventions and activities to support young people to explore their mental and emotional health and wellbeing and coping strategies. These interventions and activities could include social, economic, cultural, spiritual and leisure activities, making use of networks and services.

At the centre of the standard is the right of all young people to be fully socially included. You will help young people to realise their own strengths, coping strategies, aspirations and resources and minimise any barriers to accessing activities designed to encourage positive mental and emotional health and wellbeing.

This standard applies to youth work practitioners who work to promote the social inclusion of young people.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. assist young people to assess their own strengths, aspirations, resources and coping strategies, and how they can build on these
2. make suggestions about appropriate positive activities and/or networks/services to young people that they may wish to access
3. obtain and provide relevant information to enable young people to determine the involvement they wish to have with relevant activities and/or networks/services
4. create opportunities for young people to participate in activities and/or networks/services in which they have expressed an interest
5. minimise any barriers to accessing appropriate activities and/or networks
6. provide assistance as required to enable young people to participate in relevant activities and/or networks/services
7. seek advice to protect young people's welfare, where involvement with an activity and/or network appears to be having negative effects on their behaviour, mental and emotional health and wellbeing
8. take action in accordance with the advice you are given to ensure a positive outcome for the young people you are supporting
9. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. legal, organisational and codes of practice relevant to working with young people with emotional health needs, and their impact for communicating effectively with young people
2. factors affecting young people's needs and/or abilities to organise support, assistance and to take direct action
3. factors which influence young people's self-image and their willingness and interest in interacting with others
4. the types of support and assistance which young people may need at different times and in different contexts and how to access these
5. any issues of identity that might act as a barrier to young people's participation in youth work activities
6. what sorts of information young people may need, how it is to be used and how confidentiality and safeguarding can be maintained
7. how and where to access information and support that can inform your practice
8. the importance of valuing, recognising, respecting and promoting the diversity, expertise and experience of young people with mental and emotional health needs and their significant others
9. how to challenge assumptions in a constructive way that raises awareness and understanding
10. how and when to seek support for young people in situations beyond your experience and expertise
11. how and when to seek support for yourself
12. the forms which discrimination may take, the behaviours which may be expressions of these and how they may differ between different groups and in different settings
13. the possible effects of stereotyping, stigmatisation, prejudice and labelling on people and how to support people who may have experience of these
14. factors which may exclude people from provision and how to deal with these
15. what constitutes discrimination, both direct and indirect
16. your own values and how these affect your work with people who use services and with other service providers

Overview

Investigating and identifying the needs of young people and the local community in relation to youth work helps to determine existing provision and contributes to developing and enhancing the provision of youth work within the community.

You will investigate those needs with young people, evaluating and analysing whether existing provision meets identified needs.

You will draw conclusions based on your findings about the needs of young people and the community. You will make recommendations which will prioritise needs in line with the organisations' own remit and ability to provide opportunities and activities.

This standard is for those involved in informing or developing youth work operational planning in their organisations, as well as those who contribute to developing and improving youth work provision in the community.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. gather available information so that you can assess the needs and issues regarding the provision of youth work
2. determine the level and nature of youth work provision in the local community
3. determine the needs of young people within the community to inform the requirements for youth work provision
4. discuss and agree with young people the opportunities for enhancing and developing your organisation's provision
5. determine the future requirements of stakeholders and agencies through consultation about the provision of young people
6. collate and assess findings, identifying trends and patterns which will help you with your operational planning
7. check for any gaps in your organisation's current provision
8. evaluate your findings, draw conclusions and make recommendations for the range of activities required by young people and the community, taking into account the feasibility and benefits for your organisation
9. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. legal, regulatory and ethical requirements impacting upon the provision of youth work, and in investigating needs
2. the types of information that might be provided by young people, relevant agencies and other stakeholders appropriate to establishing community needs from youth work
3. methods of obtaining feedback from young people and relevant agencies and stakeholders, and their relative advantages and disadvantages
4. factors influencing youth work provision in the community
5. the importance of ensuring objectivity when evaluating feedback and the factors to consider when assessing its validity
6. who the relevant agencies and stakeholders are
7. techniques for analysing qualitative and quantitative information
8. the concept of needs analysis
9. the importance of long and medium-term planning to the successful achievement of your organisation's objectives
10. how to access sources of information and support in investigating community needs and identifying opportunities for youth work
11. the importance of making a financial assessment of the opportunities identified, and how to do this

Overview

This standard is about determining sources of funding and other resources for work with young people and establishing good working relationships with actual and potential fund holders. It includes developing and submitting proposals for funding, or other forms of support, and negotiating the terms of proposals to a successful conclusion. You will also establish contingency plans so that you are able to mitigate against any shortfall in funding.

This standard is suitable for youth work practitioners and managers who have responsibility for securing finance to develop youth work provision

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. establish an up to date list of individuals and organisations that provide resources currently, and which might provide resources for future activities
2. develop fully costed proposals and recommendations for obtaining the finances and other resources required to deliver proposed youth work activities
3. agree proposals and recommendations with relevant stakeholders
4. make bid proposal submissions to potential funders
5. address any requests for further information and clarification
6. agree contractual arrangements with funders which set out the terms of the resource provisions
7. update all relevant parties regarding the outcome of the proposal
8. provide those who will make use of the resources with information about any conditions attached to the funding
9. develop contingency plans to address any problems regarding the spend requirements
10. implement a system for effective funding source monitoring
11. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. guidelines and codes of practice and any legislative, regulatory and ethical requirements in relation to types and providers of funding for youth work
2. the objectives, plans and resources of your own organisation
3. the proposed activities of your organisation, including those which require finance and resources
4. the organisation's stakeholders and their views in relation to the financing of the organisation's activities
5. the current types and providers of finance and other resources used by own organisation, and other potential types and providers of finance and their associated benefits and risks
6. sources of information on resourcing opportunities, including those within the statutory, private, voluntary and charitable sectors
7. how to make a business case and promote the benefits of the proposed youth work projects
8. the scope, available resources and purpose of the funding body being approached, and any constraints under which they operate
9. what information is required by the funding body and the correct format for the presentation of the proposal
10. relevant people in your organisation and any key stakeholders who should be consulted on proposals and recommendations for obtaining finance and resources
11. the importance of submitting clear proposals of bids or applications to providers of finance and other resources, and of allowing sufficient time for consideration
12. the type of agreements that should be put in place with providers of finance and what they should cover
13. the type of actions that might need to be taken in the event of a shortfall in funding
14. why it is necessary to put contingency plans in place in relation to obtaining finance and the type of contingencies that might occur

Overview

This standard is about presenting information to support the formulation of strategy, policies and activities for youth work provided by the organisation, as well as contributing to reviews and influencing local, regional and national policy.

You will determine strategic priorities for youth work, develop an associated strategic plan for the delivery of youth work and monitor the operations in relation to the overall objectives.

This standard is suitable for youth worker practitioners and managers who are involved in contributing to and influencing youth work strategy, such as making suggestions for improvements. It is also suitable for those who develop youth work strategies, prioritise resources and plan and agree associated programmes of youth work.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. consult with agencies to obtain information appropriate to those parts of the community served by your organisation
2. ascertain trends and developments in the interests, needs and involvement of young people in the youth work activities in the community, and their impact upon youth work provision
3. prioritise changes required in policies, plans and activities according to the extent to which they have addressed the needs of young people
4. assess available options for choosing youth work programmes which are consistent with the priority areas and their needs
5. develop recommendations for improving the procedures for implementing youth work strategy and procedures
6. determine and agree with relevant people the priority areas for the focus of your organisation's resources
7. assess and analyse risks associated with the options proposed balancing the identified risks with the desired outcomes
8. present recommendations for enhancing youth work strategy, policy and provision to the relevant people
9. look for opportunities for strategic partnerships and links with other agencies towards achieving the required aims
10. agree with relevant parties the steps to develop new opportunities and associated activities, and the actions, resources, roles and responsibilities of all those involved
11. apply key performance measures and methods for monitoring and evaluating the effectiveness of agreed programmes and strategy
12. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. legal, regulatory and ethical requirements which relate to youth work, and the impact on your own activity
2. methods of forecasting trends and developments and identifying factors which may affect policies and strategies in youth work
3. the role of your organisation, its activities, policies, strategies and procedures
4. the importance and value of long and medium-term planning to the success of the organisation
5. the functions, needs, expectations and activities of principal and other agencies within youth work and how they relate to your own organisation
6. relevant individuals and community groups who have a stake in the development of youth work policy and strategy and factors affecting their support for youth work
7. the principles and processes which underpin policy and strategy development and the factors and priorities which may influence the development and acceptance of policies
8. methods and tools to analyse and evaluate relevant information and assess implications, and draw conclusions
9. methods to involve and consult with communities and other agencies, partners and stakeholders when agreeing priorities and developments
10. the common issues which may be experienced when seeking to implement new strategies
11. how to develop plans and programmes for youth work opportunities which identify activity, roles, resources and other key areas
12. the resources available to your organisation and sources of information that can aid the prioritisation of resources
13. how to assess potential risks in relation to the achievement of aims and how to mitigate these risks
14. the principles of confidentiality, and how to develop guidelines for exchanging information between individuals and agencies

1. engage with young people and encourage them to express their views regarding the provision of youth work in their community
2. provide young people with information about the factors impacting upon current and future provision of youth work within their community
3. agree with young people the priority areas for the focus of your organisation's resources, together with an agreed rationale
4. facilitate young people's exploration of options for youth work activities towards addressing the agreed priorities
5. agree the preferred option(s) with young people
6. engage and involve young people when working with relevant stakeholders and agencies to design and achieve the preferred option(s)
7. agree with young people key performance measures, and methods for monitoring and evaluating agreed actions and activities
8. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. legal, regulatory and ethical requirements impacting upon youth work
2. the importance of involving young people in the strategic development of youth work, and methods of achieving this
3. the importance of communicating effectively with young people, and how to do this across a variety of groups of young people
4. your community, the factors affecting the demand for youth work and the needs and expectations of young people within the community
5. factors to consider when profiling different neighbourhoods and other potential risks to achieving your aims
6. other agencies involved in youth work within your community, and the key features of their programmes
7. principal factors affecting the likelihood of support for youth work within communities and amongst individuals and methods of assessing these factors
8. the needs and expectations of your organisation and other agencies, relevant to providing youth work programmes
9. sources of information that can aid the prioritisation of resources
10. the importance of consulting with colleagues, young people, other partners, providers and agencies when seeking to agree priority areas and associated youth work programmes
11. how to develop measures and methods for monitoring and evaluating the success of youth work programmes
12. the importance of sharing information between individuals and agencies
13. methods for disseminating effective practice in youth work

Overview

This standard is about monitoring and evaluating the impact of youth work activities and programmes, recognising that positive benefits may take time to be achieved. You will involve young people fully in the process, together with any relevant colleagues, stakeholders or other organisations involved in the youth work being monitored.

In this standard the term 'other organisations' is used to refer to all relevant and suitable agencies, partners and providers, including local communities, external to your organisation.

This standard is suitable for youth work practitioners involved in working with young people to monitor and evaluate the impact of youth work.

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

1. check that the young people use the criteria for evaluating the outcomes of youth work activities
2. check that the young people have a process for recording their youth work activities
3. check that others involved with the youth work activities provide feedback and evidence towards the progress made against agreed objectives
4. review the outcomes achieved by the youth work activities
5. compare the outcomes achieved against the agreed evaluation criteria
6. record the successes and lessons learned and use evidence for future youth work planning
7. provide evidence and information on the effectiveness of youth work activities to others, setting out and promoting clearly the nature of the activities and why they achieved their objectives
8. record and maintain monitoring and evaluation evidence
9. make the evaluation evidence and information available to others
10. meet the values and principles underpinning youth work in relation to the requirements of this standard

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

1. legal, regulatory and ethical requirements relevant to youth work and their impact in your own area of work
2. the importance of monitoring and evaluating the impact of youth work activities, and how to do this, including the evidence required
